

A New Form is Available in the CRISP DC Consent Tool

CRISP DC users can now complete an HIE Opt-out form with their patients through the CRISP DC Consent Tool. This new functionality allows providers to seamlessly conduct a patient opt-out within the HIE.

What is an HIE Opt-out form?

The HIE opt-out form allows patients to opt-out of participating in the District of Columbia's statewide Health Information Exchange (HIE). The District of Columbia is an opt-out state, meaning that patients are automatically opted into having their healthcare data shared through the HIE from participating organizations, unless they explicitly opt-out.

Previously only available by going directly to the CRISP DC website, providers can now conveniently launch the form on the website from the Consent Tool.

Who should complete an HIE Opt-out form?

Patients who wish to no longer have their healthcare data shared with other members of their care team, through the DC HIE, should complete this form.

How do I access the form?

CRISP DC users can access the opt-out form by searching for the patient who wishes to opt-out, navigating to the Consent Tool in the CRISP InContext App or web-based DC Portal, and selecting the HIE Opt-Out form. Clicking into the form will launch the form in a new window, which can be filled out and submitted via the CRISP DC website.

If you have any questions regarding the CRISP DC Consent Tool or the HIE Opt-out form please reach out to the Consent Tool Project Lead, Abby Lutz at abby.lutz@crisphealth.org